Topline performance driven mainly by surge in real estate sales, coupled with strong revenues from QSR and tourism-related spending.

Liquor sales impacted by global and domestic macro headwinds.

Higher input costs, marketing expenses and interest charges, as well as unrealized FX losses capped profitability.

Residential segment continued to benefit from sustained housing demand and higher project completion due to increased construction activity.

Rental properties improved amid rate escalations with mall occupancy at 93% while office occupancy stood at 87%.

Surge in hotel revenues due to increased domestic tourism and MICE activities.

Net income capped by FX loss in 1Q24 from FX gains the year before.

Decline in GGR traced to fall in VIP volume and hold rate, offsetting the continued improvement in mass gaming.

Increasing share of mass vs VIP GGR indicate that NWR's marketing activities have been gaining more traction in the market.

Non-gaming revenues remained resilient as average hotel occupancy improved to 82%, together with steady MICE activities.

Profitability affected by higher direct costs and marketing expenses.

Whisky and brandy sales generally affected by the global and domestic macro challenges.

Brandy sales weighed down by continued shift to value brands amid prevailing high domestic inflation.

Whisky sales affected by changes in sales mix as global demand for spirits turned soft.

Notable cost pressures (mainly selling and marketing expenses), as well as higher interest charges and income taxes for whisky pulled down overall profitability.

Sustained improvement in systemwide sales supported by continued product promotions, expanded store count and resilient discretionary spending.

Strong growth in GP noted despite prevailing cost pressures from direct costs like inventory, rentals, personnel.

Additional pressures also come from higher marketing expenses to maintain customer traction.

Store count stood at 744 (from 703 the year before and 740 by end-2023).
